Cookies

We use cookies. Cookies are pieces of information that a website or email transfers to your computer's hard disk. Cookies can make the Web more useful by storing information about your preferences on a particular website. The use of cookies is an industry standard and many major websites use them to provide useful features for their customers. Cookies in and of themselves do not personally identify users, although they do identify a user's computer. Most browsers are initially set up to accept cookies. If you'd prefer you can set yours to refuse cookies. However, you may not be able to take full advantage of a website if you do so.
